ELECT TO CHANGE: VOTE FOR VALUE

Local shoppers are expected to vote with their feet this week as they elect to visit the Blue X Sale Extravaganza at UK home furnishing giant, Paul Simon.

Households across Britain, still facing the harsh realities of a biting recession, will welcome the start of what has become a hugely anticipated annual event for the UK's biggest curtain and home furnishing specialist, Paul Simon.

The promotion kicks off this week in every one of their stores across the country, giving local customers the chance to save a genuine, EXTRA 20% OFF already low sale prices on a wide range of selected curtains, beds and quality furnishings.

At the start of a brand new year, and with a general election approaching, Paul Simon's Managing Director, Paul Ludwin, believes that 'change' is on the minds of many people, not just in political terms but also in terms of seeking positive change in their day-to-day lives. Recent years have been tough for everyone, businesses as well as consumers. The slump in housing and mortgage markets that dramatically influenced the economic downturn have been counteracted by a rise in positive thinking shoppers who have opted to become 'home improvers' rather than 'home movers'. This has stimulated demand for quality home furnishings through well established and trusted names like Paul Simon.

Paul says: "The mindset of many people after Christmas, as we roll into spring, is 'out with the old and in with the new'. Our Blue X event gives customers the best opportunity to buy a host of products that will transform any room in their home at lowest possible prices. This includes curtains, cushions and accessories, linens, a new bed, mattress or even sofas, chairs and furniture, which are now available in a selection of our stores. All of these things bring immediate and positive change to peoples' homes and lives, and in our Blue X Sale they can be snapped up at a fraction of normal prices". Paul adds, "Our Winter Sale has been hugely successful since Boxing Day, with up to half price savings throughout the store. But with an EXTRA 20% OFF selected sale prices the value for money is even more exceptional, and I'd urge customers not to miss out on this extravaganza".

This year, Paul Simon's Blue X Sale not only offers an amazing EXTRA 20% OFF, but also adds a further bonus with a 'No VAT Increase' policy until after the event. They have elected to hold their prices at the lower 2009 VAT level rather than pushing prices up to the new height of 17.5% imposed from 1st January 2010. So now shopping doesn't have to be taxing if you choose Paul Simon!

Blue X starts at 9am Thursday 28th January.

Mum left exhausted by son's care needs

THE mother of a severely disabled teenager has slammed adult care services in Essex for failing to provide her with enough help in looking after her son.

Harjinder Caines (53), of Greygoose Park, Harlow, said she has been left exhausted by her role as full-time carer for 18-year-old Kevin, who suffers from cerebral palsy and epilepsy.

The teenager, who needs round-the-clock care, moved back home from a residential college for young people in Coventry in June last year.

Ms Caines claimed that during the three months after he moved back she received no help at all from Essex County Council's adult care services.

Since October she has had a care worker visit once a week but has struggled to secure the help she feels Kevin both needs and is entitled to.

"I'm livid," she said. "I have meetings to discuss the care he needs and then I hear nothing. I have been waiting for a care assessment report but never received it."

"I struggle to get vital respite care which I need so that I can have time off to recuperate."

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsexnews.co.uk

"I also need help lifting Kevin because care workers refuse to do any lifting unless there are two of them there, which I cannot afford."

"The attitude I get from the county council is 'We've spent enough time with you'."

Ms Caines, who stays awake at night monitoring Kevin in case he has an epileptic seizure, said she has often been so tired that she has had to pull over while driving for fear of falling asleep at the wheel.

She added: "I have stopped communicating with people. I don't go out at all because I'm just so tired."

"I used to be the life and soul of the party but when I turn up now I'm too tired to even talk to anyone so I don't go anymore."

A spokeswoman for Essex County Council said: "We are currently looking into the details of this case and cannot comment further at this stage."

County seeking 'lowest ever' rise in council tax

ESSEX County Council will increase its share of council tax by just 1.9 per cent from April – the lowest in 20 years.

The rise, which is below the current level of inflation, amounts to an increase of £20.25 on the annual bill for an average Band D household – or just 38p per week.

County council leader Lord Hanningfield said this week: "The announcement once again delivers the lowest ever increase in council tax and meets the pledge we made to the people of Essex last year to keep any rise below inflation."

Conservative councillor Sarah Candy, cabinet member for finance, added: "Despite the perilous state of the public finances and ever-increasing demands, we are determined to deliver value for money for the people of Essex.

"We have accelerated our transformation programme, streamlining our back office so that we can put savings back into front-line services."

"All these efforts have enabled us to deliver savings, efficiencies and increased income in the last year of around £85m and have allowed us to put forward another below inflation level of council tax."

The council tax proposal and budget will be presented for full council approval at a meeting on February 9.

However, final council tax bills will also include elements from Harlow Council, Essex Police and Essex County Fire & Rescue Service, all of which have yet to announce this year's increases.

may be."

Tony Hall, chairman of Harlow Council's environment and community committee, said: "The council, in partnership with other agencies, will do whatever it can to crack-down on criminal activities."

"This enforcement action is a good example of the partnership work, which exists in the town."

"We want the town to be a safer place and action like this sends out a strong message to those involved in criminal activities or those thinking about getting involved, that we will not hesitate to support the police to use the powers available to protect our residents."

The two men arrested for drugs offences are aged 20 and

Revealed: The cash crisis that left Hawks on the brink

FORMER Harlow Town FC managing director Gary Lewis lifted the lid on the financial meltdown at Barrows Farm when he addressed a public meeting for fans of the cash-strapped Ryman League club.

After majority shareholder and ex-chairman Jeff Bothwell announced that a group of businessmen had stepped forward to save the club, Mr Lewis revealed the full scale of the financial difficulties the Hawks has faced over the past three years.

As part of the Gateway Project, the club's old ground at Harlow Sportcentre in Hammaraskjold Road was sold off for housing.

The Hawks relocated to a purpose-built stadium at Barrows Farm paid for as part of the Gateway development, but meeting the running costs has pushed the club to the brink of bankruptcy.

Mr Lewis told Friday's meeting that while the club was at the Sportcentre it received preferential rates for electricity and water, but those were lost following the move to Barrows Farm. One result was that the annual electricity bill rose from £8,700 to a whopping £36,000.

The football club also had to pay

By ALAN SCOTT, Sports Editor alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk for a groundsman - a cost met by Harlow Council prior to the move - which added £18,000 to its outgoings.

Mr Lewis said legal fees had risen from £8,500 at the Sportcentre to £16,000, while the annual maintenance cost of the stadium was in excess of £60,000.

While at the Sportcentre the club relied on income from people using the bar and fruit machines, but this vital source of revenue also disappeared with the switch to Barrows Farm in 2006 when the club was cut off from the nearby housing estates.

"BritSec [the security company run by Mr Bothwell] heavily subsidised the club over the years from June 1, 2006, to May 31, 2008, putting £160,000 into the club," said Mr Lewis.

Cracks started to show in the 2006-07 season as the club pushed for promotion to the Ryman premier division. On the pitch the club was successful, but playing costs rose from £1,500 a week to £2,000 in the last three months of the season, a huge amount for a club surviving on crowds of around 100.

After winning promotion, the club then spent more money in attempting to stay in the premier division. The amount paid to players increased to £2,500 per week.

"This was to maintain a presence in the premier division," said Mr Lewis. "We had gates of 100 people paying six or seven pounds a go. The running costs were quite considerable."

In Hawks' first year in the premier division some £30,000 was spent on players' wages. "In 2008-09 we were not in a position to sustain that," Mr Lewis added.

The club then suffered another blow when it lost £10,000 annual funding from Village Cars, the company owned by then club chairman Simon Morgan which went into liquidation in 2008.

Former chairman can now see light at the end of the tunnel

FORMER chairman Jeff Bothwell told Friday's meeting his estranged partner Carol, who has been chief executive and chairman of Harlow Town FC since July, had reached an agreement with new owners to "forfeit" her shares.

Mr Bothwell said he had also given 90 per cent of his shares to the new investors for free in a bid to save the club which, according to the Company Voluntary Agreement, is £189,000 in debt.

"They [the new investors] will own 90 per cent of the football club. I have to give them first refusal on my 10 per cent if I decide to sell." Mr Bothwell also disputed the size of the club's debt, claiming it was in the region of £120,000.

"They say we owe £190,000 and that's rubbish," fumed Mr Bothwell. "They say we owe Harlow Council £90,000, but it's £66,000."

Mr Bothwell also disputed the amount the club owes in legal fees as well as its debts to Barclays Bank and brewers Carlsberg-Tetley.

During the meeting, Mr Bothwell said he was entitled to £400,000 from Harlow Council after the Hawks agreed to move to Barrows Farm as part of the Gateway Project but instead converted it into 10 years' free rent (£40,000 a year) to help the club.

"I have not profited from this club. I love it too much," he said.

He is now confident the new investors can rebuild the club and clear the debt.

Those investors are led by former Queens Park Rangers defender Tommy Cunningham, who was director of football for Harlow Town FC from July 2003 until the spring of 2008.

"I believe this is a great move for the football club," said Mr

JEFF BOTHWELL

Bothwell. "They will put a huge amount of money into the club to make sure they are playing Ryman League football next season."

"They have the same passion for the club that I do. There is light at the end of the tunnel."

Man (27) shouted racial abuse at hair salon owner

A HARLOW man who racially abused his girlfriend's boss was told by a judge the UK was full of immigrants and "we've all got to run along together".

Remanding Bradley Mallia (27) on bail for pre-sentence reports, Judge Anthony Goldstaub pointed out the defendant was of Maltese stock, his defence counsel was of Welsh stock and he himself was of German stock.

Emma Nash, prosecuting at Chelmsford Crown Court, said Mallia, of Bishopsfield, Harlow, had a previous conviction in 2006 which involved shouting racial words.

She said the latest incident occurred when Mallia's girlfriend had been employed to deliver leaflets for Yasmin Khan.

A dispute arose over whether she had done the job properly and should be paid. As a result, Mallia confronted Ms Khan at her hairdressing salon.

The court was told he behaved aggressively, verbally abused her and told her: "F Paki. Give me the money."

He then went to the till area and demanded the key to the till while banging it before leaving the premises. Ms Khan then called the police.

Mallia pleaded guilty to racially aggravated threatening behaviour.

Adjourning the case for pre-sentence reports, the judge told Mallia he needed help to overcome his attitude but would not be going to prison.

Anger over future of swim pool site

A GROUP set up to protect Harlow's heritage has accused councillors of "selling residents down the river" over the proposed redevelopment of the old swimming pool site after it emerged a covenant protecting the land from private ownership was scrapped five years ago.

The land off Fourth Avenue – which was originally part of the Town Park – was transferred to Harlow Council by the Harlow Development Corporation during the 1960s, with the stipulation that it be used "in perpetuity" as public space.

But following the decision to include the site as part of the Gateway project in 2005, the covenant on the land was subsequently ditched by its statutory successor The Homes and Communities Agency to pave the way for the site to be redeveloped into a private residential area.

This has provoked an angry reaction from Harlow Civic Society members, who claim the council have effectively reneged on a promise to the public.

The group's vice-chairman, John Curry, told the Star: "The release of a covenant because of a change in ownership is not a good enough excuse to backtrack on a promise made to the Harlow public.

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

"The covenant was there to protect part of the town's ever-diminishing public space from private ownership. The decision to release it was never publicised and no doubt taken behind closed doors.

"The council's unwillingness to protect community assets is selling the people of Harlow down the river."

The pool was originally set to be demolished soon after its closure in November 2007 but the council has yet to find a developer willing to take on the project and the building has remained empty ever since.

Tony Hall, chairman of Harlow Council's environment and community committee, said: "The future development of new homes on the swimming pool site is part of the Gateway project which is providing new leisure facilities and much-needed housing in the town.

"The council recently agreed a development brief which will determine future planning proposals for the redevelopment of the site once it has been sold to developers.

"The covenant was released in 2005 by the statutory successors the Homes and Communities Agency."

Children do their bit to help quake victims

KIND-hearted pupils and staff at St Nicholas School in Old Harlow took part in a special day to raise money for the victims of the Haiti earthquake. On Friday the children manned stalls selling everything from cakes to unwanted Christmas presents, raising a grand total of £3,100 for the Disasters Emergency Committee Haiti Earthquake Appeal. The school also held a non-uniform day for which the children made a donation to the appeal fund. The event was organised by PE teacher Lin Fitch, who was assisted by members of the Friends of St Nicholas fundraising committee. A school spokeswoman said afterwards: "It was a great success. We were all overwhelmed by the generous response." (photo: HAR0623138)

Police return to scene of attack on teenager

POLICE investigating a sexually-motivated attack on a young woman in Harlow returned to the scene on Tuesday in the hope of jogging the memories of potential witnesses.

Officers patrolled the Toddbrook area between 4-6pm asking people whether they remembered anything which may assist their inquiries into the attack which took place at about 5pm on January 19.

The teenage victim resisted the attack and the man fled when she screamed repeatedly.

Police want to talk to a man, thought to be in his late teens, who was seen around the junction of Third Avenue and Harberts Road at the time. He is described as about 5ft 8ins tall and was wearing a navy or grey hooded top and dark bottoms.

Detective Inspector Martin Pasmore said: "He is not currently a suspect in this case but I need to eliminate him from our enquiries.

"This was a very frightening attack on a defenceless young woman and the victim showed great courage and determination in fighting off the attacker.

"I am determined to bring to justice the person responsible and believe the answer lies within the local community."

Anyone with information about the attack should call police on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Proud of Harlow

SIR, Aran Black puts forward the notion that Harlow should be dismantled and asks why anyone would be proud of the town (Letters, January 7).

I was uncertain if his letter was designed to be a spoof or whether it was in fact the previously unpublished local Conservative manifesto – for the Conservatives have certainly long been in the business of demolishing the town, its infrastructure and its jobs and services.

I am proud of Harlow and happy to praise its virtues. I was born in a Harlow council house at a time when home births were in vogue but benefited then and in subsequent years from the excellent health care provision offered in the town.

I was educated in Harlow to a level where I have been able to remain in employment for all but a few months in the past 28 years. I have spent the last 13 years commuting to London, an arduous but manageable journey.

I have enjoyed the green open spaces and arts and recreation facilities that rival anything neighbouring towns have to offer.

Just over a year ago my daughter was born at Princess Alexandra Hospital and the care proved was first rate. It is no surprise that people come from miles around to benefit from the services at PAH.

Mr Black suggests the council issues pro-Harlow propaganda and I wonder what he is referring to? Harlow's Conservatives build their propaganda on how fed up people are with Harlow whilst masking their own destructive intentions.

Harlow has a history to be proud of and a legacy worth protecting from such viciousness and denigration. I am proud that for most of my life in Harlow we have had Labour MPs committed to serving and advancing the interests of the town.

I am proud of Harlow and proud to stand up and be counted for all that is good about the town – and I know I am not alone.

Living in paradise

SIR, I moved to Harlow from Woodford Green two months ago as my husband is now disabled and I moved to be near to my daughter. Since then I have found the people of Harlow, with one exception, to be friendly and kind.

Problems in need of global solutions

SIR, John Wilson's nonsense on global warming (Letters, January 7 & 14) needs to be refuted. Weather and climate are two fundamentally different things. What will happen on average in 20 or 50 years is much easier to predict than next month's weather.

In fact, when the global temperature rises, the energy in the atmosphere increases and results both in more extreme individual events and more unpredictability in general. There is no 'may or may not' about global warming; actual measurements of average global temperatures show a steady increase over the past 150 years. No-one significant denies this today, even the few who dispute its cause. But Mr Wilson obviously knows better than, for example, former government chief scientist Sir David King. The human race is faced with an unprecedented range of problems. Climate change is one of the biggest but there are others – the threat of nuclear war which is still with us, the continuing conventional conflicts around the world, poverty, preventable disease, potential pandemics, food supply and – yes – population growth.

These are all interlinked and need global solutions with the maximum co-operation at all levels – individual, local, national and international. So having a mini League of Nations in the town is not a bad thing if it helps to counteract Mr Wilson's narrow parochial attitude.

Currently about 60 per cent of our food is home grown, far more than Mr Wilson seems to imagine. It could and should be increased, climate change being one of the reasons why it may in the future be more difficult to import so much.

But shortage of land is not the limiting factor; just look around Essex and see all the green acres and how much of it is "set aside". Further, there is not a real current worldwide shortage of food. While a billion people do go short, the West has an epidemic of obesity.

The projected future population growth is a serious matter, and combatting climate change is an essential part of the response needed to avoid catastrophe. The problem with our politicians (and most of those of other countries) is not that they are talking too much about global warming, but that they are not doing nearly enough.

The very measures needed to mitigate our contribution to global warming are precisely the ones best fitted to deal with problems of the economy, housing and employment. Alternative energy, more efficient transport, planning to reduce the amount of commuting which is an unproductive activity and insulation of millions of energy-squandering homes. These are being done, but not on anywhere near the scale required.

I signed up with a company to clean the wheelie bins and the man who comes is lovely. I told him I had to take my husband to Princess Alexandra Hospital the next day and always got lost as all the roundabouts and turnings look the same. He said he would draw me a map and put it through my letterbox the next morning.

Sure enough, at 7am the next morning the map was posted through the letterbox.

Then there was the kind man who we meet walking our dog. He came round with some jigsaw puzzles for my husband to do. And a lady who lives two doors away called on Christmas Eve with a bottle of wine and a card to wish us happiness in our new home.

I love Harlow and its people and once I get my bearings and stop getting lost it will be paradise!

Wish list for town

SIR, I have a certain amount of sympathy for the view expressed by Aran Black, whose opinion is that Harlow should be demolished! I would not go that far, being a great believer in Harlow and always wanting the best for the town, so my list would not extend as far as Mr Black desires.

He might be pleased to know that Essex County Council has already started, by demolishing Brays Grove School, a big mistake in my opinion.

In this regard it is quite amazing what you can buy through the small ads. Essex County Council is advertising it will be selling Passmores School subject to Government approval. No problem there I would guess and no problem either in guessing who will buy the site. My money is on Anglia Ruskin University who will, no doubt, indulge in more demolition in order to turn the site into a university campus.

Going back to the original point of Mr Black's letter, my contribution in no particular order of preference is as follows:

- The yet to be completed Leisurezone. The wrong building in the wrong place.
- Everything built by Barratts in

Harlow during the past few years

- Matalan, T K Maxx and ASDA at the The Watergardens.

- The Travelodge hotel and adjacent pub near Harlow Town station.

- All blocks of flats and care homes that have been modelled on young offenders detention centres.

- All infill housing developments built on brownfield sites as they are an offence to architecture and town planning and have no place here.

As Harlow Council and Harlow Renaissance have recently appointed a consultant to produce a design guide for Harlow – which must surely stay close to the principles of the Gibberd Masterplan and embrace good architecture – the least we can now expect is that planning applications granted but not yet in construction be suspended until such time as the design guide is written and approved. Otherwise there will be more buildings to add to my list.

Of course I don't think that your correspondent really wants to see Harlow razed, but I hope my little wish list has given him some comfort.

Obscene morality

SIR, There is a saying passed down through history that those whom the gods seek to destroy, they first make mad. Gordon Brown is the latest example.

Presumably under the influence of his non-elected assistant Peter Mandelson he has latched on to the word "aspiration" as the keyword for the next election.

There is much to be said for aspiration. I have aspired all my life to contribute to fairness and justice in the world and an end to war and poverty. But what the Prime Minister is encouraging is simply personal aggrandisement and greed.

Having spent his years in government making the gap between rich and poor wider and wider and failing to provide adequate housing, decent pensions, public transport and public infrastructure and services, which most affect the poor, he now claims to represent the middle classes (actually the upper middle classes) and encourages their personal aspirations for even more, quoting cars, overseas holidays etc at a time when we are faced with a shortage of resources, global warming and a huge financial crisis.

It is an obscene morality, especially at a time when many of us who have little wealth are contributing to relieving a disaster in Haiti where the unfair distribution of world resources puts our own wealth into perspective.

What is the Tory response to this? David Cameron sees one of his priorities to allow those inheriting under £1m to pay no inheritance tax, thus increasing further the plight of the poor. The poor pay taxes on earned income to subsidize the rich inheriting totally unearned income. Are we mad?

The real tragedy is not the dishonesty and greed of MPs claiming expenses, revealing as that is. It is the complete lack of moral sense, the determination to get into power at whatever cost to personal integrity and public good, the failure to empathise with the poor, powerless and disadvantaged, the insulting assumption that all the electorate share their grubby standards and values and the failure of our so-called leaders to encourage the public common wealth rather than the private personal ambitions and greed of those who should realise they have infinitely more than their fair share already.

The Liberal Democrats have shown more awareness of the problem than most, but they need to seize the opportunity and offer the country not an alternative government but a radically alternative viewpoint in Parliament which those of us who do not share the selfish, shortsighted values of most of our representatives, can support and vote for. Will they do it? Time is running out!

Frosty reception?

SIR, What a kind gesture of Gordon Brown to come to our town last week to pay a visit to our hardworking staff at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

I have only one question: armed with his claim that unemployment was on the fall and that the Labour Party is well positioned to win the upcoming General Election, why did he not pay a brief visit to our local Jobcentre?

I wonder if his reception would have been somewhat frostier there?

Roads are no joke

SIR, County councillor Norman Hume is at it again when he says Essex has one of the best highways networks in the country (Star, January 21). The person who is in charge of Harlow's roads has made the same claim only recently.

Perhaps he could travel to Harlow from Chelmsford and see these roads. For example Fifth Avenue to the A414, in recent years disrupted with major repairs, is a disgrace.

Perhaps he could examine the estate roads in Mark Hall and Nettesswell. He would find concrete slabbed roads subsiding. These roads have exactly the same surface as 60 years ago when first laid down by the Harlow Development Corporation! Perhaps Cllr Hume could take up stand-up comedy. It's the way he tells 'em.

Bus timetables

SIR, I was pleased to read in the Star that £400,000 is to be spent improving Harlow Town station.

In 2008 I had a site meeting with Essex County Council who promised that urgent priority would be given to the provision of bus timetables. Only some routes are on the electronic indicator. Perhaps this revolutionary idea could be included in the new refurbishment!

Meanwhile, we remain the only major town in Essex with no direct bus link between the railway station and the hospital.

Grateful Lions

SIR, Harlow Lions Club would like to thank the people of Harlow for their generosity in raising more than £700 during our Christmas collections.

We would also like to thank Tesco for allowing us to carry out these collections.

Friend's tears for victim of river tragedy

SANJAI CHAUHAN

AN experienced canoeist wept as he told an inquest how he tried to save his friend from drowning.

Mark Trant said he repeatedly tried to throw a lifeline to Sanjai Chauhan, of Pytt Field, Harlow, after he capsize on the River Lea at Wormley and at one point got his hand within a foot of the 19-year-old before he disappeared under the water.

"I must have made five or six attempts to get him but the force of the water was just too strong," Mr Trant told Essex coroner Caroline Beasley-Murray. "Every time I threw myself to get him I was just being dragged back further. He fought and I fought. It just didn't work."

The tragedy happened on June 9, 2008, but it was not until the following day that

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Mr Chauhan's body was recovered by police divers.

Giving evidence at the inquest held in Chelmsford on Friday, Mr Trant said it was the first time the pair, who had been friends for more than two years, had gone canoeing on the River Lea as they usually paddled on the River Stort.

They left the water before reaching a weir and had planned to go to some lakes nearby but there were too many stinging nettles and bushes so they dropped their canoes back into the water after the weir.

Mr Chauhan went first and Mr Trant said he saw his friend waiting for him in the middle of the weir pool. "By the time I got into my canoe and spun it round the current was strong," said Mr Trant. "I looked over and he was not where he was. I looked further right and that's when it all went wrong."

"I literally saw him tip and then go under, at which point I went for him. I threw the rope because I had a safety line, but because of the current as soon as I stopped paddling to throw the rope the current took me and the rope was not long enough. I tried and tried and couldn't get it."

Mr Trant said he kept trying to paddle back to where Mr Chauhan was, all the time shouting and screaming at him. "I was just trying to tell him what to do, to relax and go under, hit the bottom and come out."

Coroner's officer Simon Oakley said: "The force of the water cascading over the weir and resulting disturbance to the water caused Mr Chauhan's canoe to capsize."

"Despite the best efforts of Mr Trant, he disappeared under the surface and was not seen alive again."

Cause of death was given as immersion.

Recording an accidental verdict, the coroner said: "It was the most tragic of accidents."

"Sanjai clearly was a much-loved young man who had a lot going for him. He was valued by family and friends, loved meeting people and was never short of friends."

Police divers find body of canoe victim

THE family of a young man who died in a canoeing accident this week have paid tribute to a "loving and affectionate son". Police divers found the body of Sanjai Chauhan, of Pytt Field, Harlow, while searching a section of the River Lea near Wormley on Tuesday evening.

The 19-year-old canoeist had capsized after taking his canoe onto the water and heading downstream over a weir on Monday afternoon.

Yesterday (Wednesday) his mother, Mala Chauhan, spoke movingly of her loving and affectionate son who had been very close to his family and friends.

"He thought the world of me and would do anything to make me happy but he was also very independent and tried for the day," she said.

"He enjoyed a swim and swimming pool."

Police repeat appeal for witnesses to knife attack

DETECTIVES investigating a stabbing incident in Harlow almost four months ago have repeated their appeal for information.

Three teenagers were injured, one of them seriously, in the knife attack on steps leading down from Fourth Avenue to the Sainsbury's car park at 10.30pm on Saturday, September 19.

This week's police appeal comes as seven girls arrested in connection with the incident were bailed until July while inquiries continue.

The victims, two aged 15 and one aged 16, were treated at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Investigating officer DS Jamie Gingell said: "We know that people were in the area at the time and many will have witnessed what happened and I urge them now to contact us and tell us what they saw."

Anyone with information should call DS Gingell on 0300 333 4444 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

PRIME Minister Gordon Brown thanked hospital staff for their efforts during the recent cold snap when he made a fleeting visit to Harlow on Thursday.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell and Chris Pocklington, chief executive of the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust, greeted Mr Brown as he arrived at the hospital in Hamstel Road.

The Prime Minister was then taken on a tour of the accident and emergency department and one ward, stopping regularly to speak to both staff and patients.

He told staff: "We have been through quite a bit of bad weather recently with the snow and everything else. There were a lot of people falling down

By DAN PHILLIPS

daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

and it has been especially difficult for the elderly.

"I would like to say to staff that we are very grateful for everything that you have done during this time. You have shown great dedication."

At the end of the visit he returned to Downing Street where he was due to chair a meeting to discuss the future of nursing.

Mr Pocklington said: "This visit was a boost for morale for staff who have worked hard through the cold weather. It was good that he could see what they have achieved and continue to do on a day-to-day basis."

Mr Rammell added: "It's obviously a boost for everyone for him to come here. He wanted to thank staff for their work but also to see the real progress that has been made in the past 11 or 12 years.

"Waiting times have dramatically lowered since then as has infection control and many other improvements."

One woman visiting her elderly mother in Netteswell ward expressed her anger about the cost of parking at the hospital.

"He should be doing something about the ridiculous parking fees," she said. "We don't know how many days my mother has got left and it just cost me £5 to park. It's costing my family a fortune."

Another woman in the children's and young people's A&E assessment area simply shrugged her shoulders when Mr Brown stopped to say hello. "What was the point of that?" she asked.

PM: Bill has served with great distinction

PRIME Minister Gordon Brown gave his personal backing to Harlow's Labour MP Bill Rammell ahead of the General Election this year.

In an exclusive interview with the Star, Mr Brown praised Armed Forces Minister Mr Rammell, calling him a "great member of Parliament".

"He has shown over the last few years great distinction as a very senior minister," said Mr Brown. "He has done very well telling me what the concerns are of the people in this constituency."

"We have been talking about how we can maintain the very high standard of services we are trying to provide in this area and also seeing how we can improve on them."

A General Election is widely expected to be called by Mr Brown in May this year. In the last poll in 2005, Mr Rammell defeated his Conservative opponent Robert Halfon by just 97 votes.

Since then the credit crunch has hit the economy and public opinion has turned against the wars in Iraq and then Afghanistan. In Harlow, Labour has also fallen from a position of council control to third place behind the Conservatives and Liberal Democrats.

When Mr Brown was asked why

QUESTION TIME: Star reporter Dan Phillips interviews the Prime Minister

Labour's support had collapsed in the town, he blamed the economic problems of the past two years.

"We have had a recession and we have come through the recession. Every country in the world has had a recession," he said. "But Britain has come through it with less unemployment and with more job opportunities.

"Of course people are wanting to know that the fear of unemployment that has existed, the fear of losing their homes and the fears that small businesses have gone."

"We want to know that these fears are receding as they see the Government taking us through the recession."

Nursing and Midwifery... Amazing!

First it's Gordon, then Roy for Labour Party faithful

FORMER Labour deputy leader Roy Hattersley visited Harlow on Thursday to kick-start fundraising for the party coffers ahead of the General Election.

On the same day Prime Minister Gordon Brown was in town, Lord Hattersley entertained a 60-strong audience at Moot House in The Stow with stories about his time in Government and the fight ahead for the party.

He also answered questions on issues ranging from affordable housing to the economy.

Lord Hattersley said: "It was equality and fairness that brought me to the Labour Party 60 years ago and it is staying true to those values that prioritise the needs of the many and the most vulnerable in society over those of a privileged few which will bring about victory for Labour in Harlow."

Afterwards Harlow MP Bill Rammell, who invited Mr Hattersley, said: "I was very pleased to welcome Roy to the town to kick-start our election campaign."

"He has tremendous experience and knowledge and really succeeded in motivating our members and candidates in his speech on Labour values of fairness, social justice and equality."

Building up a clearer picture of rail station

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

TWO eagle-eyed residents contacted the Nostalgia desk this week to clarify one point in the article which accompanied a photo of the former Burnt Mill railway station.

It was suggested the three buildings in the background of the picture, above, may have included the station master's house but it seems that is not the case.

The station master's house stood to the left of the station from the photographer's vantage point and, as a result, cannot be seen in this picture.

Becky Trist, of Rose Close, is the daughter of Mr Bixby, a former Burnt Mill station master. She identifies the three buildings in the picture as the station master's office, the booking office and the porter's room.

However, Dorothy Collingridge, of Halling Hill, sent us a letter with a slightly different recollection. She writes: "As a resident of Burnt Mill for many years until it was pulled down, I would like to point out that of the buildings on the right, one was a house and the other was Burnt Mill Snooker Club."

"The station master's house is on the left hand side and cannot be seen. By the way, it is still standing and can be seen down the road that also leads to the Loch House."

The picture was provided by local historian Ron Bill but we would also like to thank William Lomasney, of Old House Croft, who also lent us a copy of the same photograph.

Mr Lomasney is a former signalman who started his career at Roydon rail station on the same line.

LOOK at many old photos and certain faces can become familiar.

The face of signalman George Gates cropped up more than once among the many pictures of Burnt Mill village and rail station the have landed on the Nostalgia desk.

The picture of the signal box where Mr Gates can be seen in the window was sent in by John Forster, while the close up of him with his sleeves rolled up was lent to us by his daughter, Eve Baugh.

Mr Gates, originally from Much Hadham, worked on the railway all his life, starting out as a porter before becoming a signalman until the box was closed.

He then moved to Roydon and Broxbourne stations where he worked as a ticket collector.

Mrs Baugh said her father, who was well known around Burnt Mill, enjoyed his work and spent many hours working in the signal box.

"I remember my mum making dad's dinner and putting it on a plate and covering it," she said. "I then took it to him at the signal box so he could have it while he worked."

Mr Gates died in 1977.

Swim will help support those with dementia

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE Harlow branch of the Alzheimer's Society is looking to recruit volunteers to take part in its second sponsored swim next month. The fundraiser takes place on Saturday, February 27 from 2.30-6.30pm at Stewards School pool in Harlow.

Last year's swim - the first to be organised by the charity - raised more than £2,200 and this year organisers are hoping to top that figure.

"This will be one of our major fundraising events of the year," said event organiser Pat Quinlan. "We need the support of everyone who would be able to swim even a couple of lengths of the pool and get some sponsorship money. "It is a fun event and also encourages us all to be healthy and fit.

"We are aiming to exceed the £2,200 raised last year and need everyone to support this event."

Harlow branch manager Marion Howell said: "The society relies heavily on fundraising events like the sponsored swim, as this money enables us to continue our work to support people with dementia and their families in Harlow.

"Dementia is one of the biggest health challenges of this century and many of us will be touched by the illness in one way or another in the years ahead.

"It is vital that organisations like the Alzheimer's Society are able to support people to remain in their own homes for as long as possible."

Harlow supermarket Asda has donated a shield for the school or company that raises the most money.

The pool will be open from 2.30-7pm on the day for swimmers to take part and all those who swim will receive free refreshments.

Anyone wanting to take part should contact organisers on (01279) 418331 for more information and entry forms.

It's thrills, not chills, for Scouts at winter camp

A GROUP of Scouts from Harlow braved sub zero temperatures when they attended the Scout Association's annual winter camp for the first time this year.

The group from the 7th Harlow and 1st Great Parndon troops joined 1,800 others at the camp held at Gilwell Park in Chingford. It takes place every January and provides the opportunity for those attending to participate in more than 70 activities. One of those who enjoyed the experience was Elisha Hepworth (10), of the 7th Harlow troop. "It was great," she said. "For the first time I experienced climbing, quad biking and riding on a segway.

"My friends at home were wrapped up by the fire all weekend and thought I was mad, but really it's great fun and a real laugh. Adventures like this make me feel so alive."

Peter Craft, leader of the 7th Harlow, said: "Trying out all these activities with the Scouts was great. As an adult in Scouting I get stuck into to all the activities and I have an absolutely fantastic time."

Sign up now for free care courses

TWO new courses run by West Essex Primary Care Trust will help people cope with difficult medical conditions.

The first - Looking After Me - is for adults who care for someone living with a long-term health condition or disability. It aims to help carers feel more confident and manage their caring situation effectively.

The second course - Chronic Disease Self-Management - is for people living with long-term health conditions including pain, depression, diabetes or heart disease.

Both courses are free and involve six weekly sessions, each lasting for two-and-a-half hours. They will be led by trained tutors who themselves live with a long-term health condition.

Both courses take place at the Latton Bush Centre starting on February 15.

Spokeswoman Linda Cairns said: "The courses cover similar subjects and run parallel so people can go home and talk about what they have done and share ideas. They also get time to talk about how they feel with others in similar situations."

For more information or to book a place call 0800 783 8944 free or email info@eppic.co.uk by February 4 to receive an application form.

Charity bowls

THE ladies of Tye Green Bowls Club will be holding their annual charity gala next month. Teams from Essex and Hertfordshire will be competing against each other and raising money.

This year the two charities to benefit will be St Clare Hospice and the Harlow branch of the Alzheimer's Society.

The plastic bottle which could save lives

MORE than 200 emergency medical records containers were handed out to shoppers in the Harvey Centre in Harlow town centre as part of a 'message in a bottle' scheme.

The project, run and paid for by the Harlow Lions Club, is aimed at helping more vulnerable people in the community.

The plastic bottles are used as containers for a form listing medical details such as medication, illnesses and allergies along with the names and contact details of relatives or friends.

The bottle is then kept in the fridge and labels highlighting that fact are stuck to the outside of the fridge and inside the front door of the property.

The local emergency services have been told to look out for the labels and will know at once that

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

the vital information they need is in the container, saving valuable time particularly if the patient is unconscious.

They can then pass it on to a doctor or hospital personnel in an emergency.

On Thursday Lions club volunteers, accompanied by Police Community Support Officer Jenna McKinley, spent three hours in the town centre handing out bottles.

PCSO McKinley said: "The message in a bottle project provides peace of mind for you, your friends and your family.

"If anything happens to you and the emergency services are called to your home, they will see the stickers and can access vital medical information quickly to ensure you receive the correct medical treatment."

A spokesman for Harlow

PEACE OF MIND:

PCSO Jenna McKinley with one of the emergency containers which were handed out to shoppers in Harlow town centre on Thursday

Lions described the day as "very successful" and said it would be repeated in the next few weeks.

He added: "We'd like to offer our sincere thanks to PCSO McKinley who supported us on the day and Simon Plumb, deputy operations manager of the Harvey Centre, who made it possible."

Anyone who would like to receive a free container and stickers should call Harlow Lions on 0845 833 5742.

Texting teens are the keypad kings

TWO Korean teenagers have been crowned the world's fastest texters after winning an international competition in New York.

Quick-thumbed Young-Ho Bae (18) and Mok-Min Ha (17) beat 11 teams from across the globe to scoop the titles – and took home an incredible £60,000 between them in prize money!

Using a variety of mobile phones, they had to copy out a series of words and phrases displayed on a screen in their own language, reaching speeds of four characters per second.

To make it more difficult, some of the words were deliberately misspelt and the teams were penalised if they failed to use the correct capitalisation, spelling and punctuation in their texts. Speaking after the win Young-Ho Bae said: "It is amazing that our team won the world title! Every moment in every round of the texting game was just awesome!"

Second place went to the US team, while 27-year-old Pedro Matias from Portugal set a new world record by typing a 264-character text in just 1 minute 59 seconds – 23 seconds faster than the previous record set by Finland's Arttu Harkki on April 27, 2005.

Cameron lands a part in TV advert

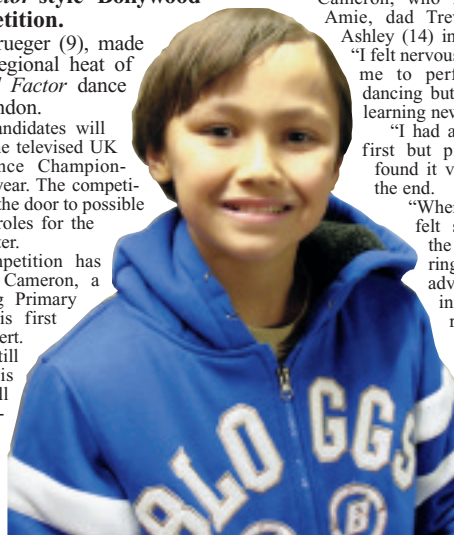

A YOUNG boy from Harlow has been selected to appear in a television advert after proving a big hit in an X-Factor-style Bollywood talent competition.

Cameron Krueger (9), made it through a regional heat of the Bollywood Factor dance audition in London.

Shortlisted candidates will go through to the televised UK Bollywood Dance Championships later this year. The competition could open the door to possible film and stage roles for the winning youngster.

But the competition has already landed Cameron, a pupil at Epping Primary School, with his first role in a new advert.

Details are still sketchy at this stage but it will be for a well-known cleaning brand. The television advert is for broadcast in both the UK and India.

By DAN PHILLIPS
daniel.phillips@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Cameron, who lives with mum Amie, dad Trevor and brother Ashley (14) in Heighams, said: "I felt nervous when they asked me to perform Bollywood dancing but it was great fun learning new moves."

"I had a bit of trouble at first but picked it up and found it very interesting in the end."

"When I got selected I felt so excited about the chance of starring in a television advert. I was jumping up and down! I really didn't expect it."

He added: "I would love to be in a Bollywood film. I love watching movies based in different countries and Bollywood looks so much fun!"

Harlow a hotspot for licence cheats

HUNDREDS of people Harlow were caught watching television without a licence last year, according to figures released this week.

The TV Licensing agency revealed the town had the fourth highest number of licence dodgers in Essex, beaten only by Basildon, Southend-on-Sea and Colchester.

A total of 796 people in Harlow were caught, risking prosecution and a fine of up to £1,000.

Nationally, more than 417,000 people were caught watching television without a licence last year – 4,000 more than in 2008.

TV Licensing spokesman Ian Fannon said: "On behalf of the vast majority of people who pay for their licence, we work hard to catch those who attempt to cheat the system."

"These figures demonstrate that there really is no hiding place for licence evaders and we continue to be highly effective at catching them."

New Year/New Home

interiors

We all need some luxury in our lives and the New Year heralds a reassessment and a re-grouping of our lifestyles. Whilst it may not all be about out with the old and in with the new, there's nothing better than a bit of an update to give our homes a sense of well being.

It may be bleak outside but hunker down on the Hugo sofa and beat the blues. Add a splash of accent colour with the quirky Mr Impossible chair or the fab Zaragosa pendant lamp, whilst sipping a cocktail on your uber cool Zite barstool. Recline in style on the Alexis power recliner teamed with a statement piece lamp table like the Quinto, or get some stylish shut-eye on the Calabria bed.

 Your stars with
to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20  This week is dominated by the change of the month and a potent Full Moon. You may also find yourself involved in some feisty exchanges - especially if you find yourself unsure of whom to spend your leisure time with. If you are looking to move in a new circle, an existing friend can feel pushed out. Or is it a partner who will try to dominate your time? Call now for your love scope in full...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23  Think back to the middle of last month when you may have had a very clear idea of where you were heading. Now fast-forwards to now. Are things still the same Libra? Umm, maybe not! The reason for this is that for all your hustle and bustle and the undoubted highlights of the year so far, you may have lost yourself in the mad rush and thought but if you do, call now and advise... for more news and

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
 There may be someone you have to write on an everyday basis who is set to be a thorn in your side. If you are in a supervisory or management role, it may be an uncooperative colleague or at home, an awkward offspring or partner. Or perhaps you'll find someone rather overbearing. Yet solace comes from a surprise thread, which can delight. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
If you love a good debate, you can be in your element this week, but then a pub quiz could see you sparkle too. Yet there's a fine line between harmless banter and getting into heated encounters where you do little for your blood pressure. Maybe you will have to stand up for yourself, and rightly, but disagreeing over trivial stuff, just isn't worth the hassle Gemini. Call me for more astral advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
 An unusual person can have a profound affect. This does need to be in a romantic context either it could be someone with dazzling business ideas. You could find yourself drawn to them like a moth to a flame but equally you can feel the need to suddenly separate yourself from someone else, whose company you are no longer enjoying. Call your special Cancer prediction line for more advice.

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
 This can be a crunch week for relationships, as Mars and Full Moon in your sign, combine to stir some mischief. How? Someone you've recently met may no longer seem so enticing, or you may want to raise your dissatisfaction with a long standing partner. Yet if you are solo, an extra slice of confidence and devilment can draw someone special to you. Call now for your love scope in full.

Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 23
Prevention is better than cure, so if one of your health resolutions has gone by the wayside, this is an opportune time to get a grip on things. If you feel under par, but can't quite figure out why, don't discount a psychological factor. In fact the more you hold in your concerns, the more they fester. If need be, arrange an appointment with your GP for a chat. Call me for more news and astral advice...

moat at south chase

Part of the award-winning Newhall development

Own your own home from just £32,500*Affordable, contemporary, environmentally friendly and stylish – perfect for the first time buyer

By teaming up with the award-winning authors of SLO - Simple Living Opportunities – a new concept for 21st century living - Moat is able to offer a selection of 1 & 2 bed homes on a part buy/part rent basis.

What is New Build HomeBuy

The homes offered by Moat in this latest phase are available on a part buy/part rent basis. The government funded initiative, New Build HomeBuy (formerly known as shared ownership) is a scheme which allows you to buy a share of the property and pay a subsidised rent on the remaining share. At a later date, you can purchase further shares of the property and ultimately own it outright. Terms and conditions apply. Minimum income criteria apply to ensure that the homes are affordable.

Interested applicants must register with Moat, the HomeBuy Agent.

To apply visit www.homebuyoptions.co.uk and complete an online application form.

LOW RATE ESTATE AGENCY WORTH TALKING ABOUT

Due to the success of the Sapphire approach to selling homes in Harlow, we have decided to launch an office dedicated to Church Langley. At Sapphire we understand buyer behaviour and we know that buyers will tend to look online for properties, mainly on rightmove.co.uk as to looking in the high street, so rather than have expensive flashy premises; we invest our money in the marketing of your property online - that's what's most important.

Because our overheads are far lower than other high street estate agents, we can afford to offer lower commission fees (0.7%). As long as your property is on rightmove.co.uk your property will sell. So why pay more?

- No contracts to sign, No sole agency agreements, No tie ins.
- Only 0.7% to sell your property
- Unlimited marketing on Rightmove & other internet portals
- H.I.P.S. only £186 + VAT

Sapphire – The new hero for Church Langley, saving you both time & money!

Still time to enjoy a dash of Dickens

By CHRIS MOSS

chris.moss@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

CHRISTMAS may now be little more than a distant memory for most of us, but for those pining for a late sprinkling of seasonal cheer a Harlow theatre company might just have the tonic necessary to banish those winter blues.

While Charles Dickens' timeless morality tale A Christmas Carol could be considered a slightly odd choice for a show set to open in February, Moot House Players have no such qualms.

Adapted and directed by MHP stalwart Bett Hewlett, the winter warmer will feature a huge cast, sumptuous Victorian dress and stunning special effects while the story itself remains faithful to the Dickens classic.

In the original tale, Ebenezer Scrooge (played by Rabbie Chittick in this adaptation) is confronted by the ghosts of Christmases past, present and future, reassessing his cold-hearted and miserly outlook on life and undergoing a remarkable transformation into a warm-hearted philanthropist.

"I have tried very, very hard to be true to the original story so it has been a real challenge to make the language and dress as authentic as possible," Bett told the Star.

"The bad weather has made rehearsals a bit of a struggle, but I'm very pleased about how things are shaping up for the opening night."

The production has taken on added significance for Bett as it features three generations of her own family, with husband Gordon, daughter Jocelyn and grandchildren Bethany, William and Elliot (who plays Tiny Tim) all treading the boards.

"It's a wonderful family show and the fact so many members of my own family are involved makes it extra special for me," she said. "It's a timeless story that is sure to chase away the winter blues and bring some of that Christmas magic back at a time when people really need it."

● A Christmas Carol begins a three-night run at Moot Hall, The Stow, on Thursday, February 4. Performances begin at 8pm and tickets costing $8 ($6 concessions) are available by calling (01279) 639170.

Kevin jumps at the chance to be a talent show judge

HARLOW'S celebrity dance instructor Kevin Adams has made the jump back onto the TV screens as a judge on a hit new CBBC show.

Kevin, who became a household name as dance coach on the hit BBC show Fame Academy, joins fellow judges Camilla Dallerup and Ankur Bahl on Jump Nation, a new talent show inviting the UK's best jump-rope teams to take their talent out of the playground and onto the small screen.

Each week the teams must perform new routines in a bid to impress the panel and remain in the competition, with the worst performers facing eviction from the Jump

Nation Academy. Kevin, whose own Saturday dance academy at Passmores School has now expanded to offer afternoon sessions, told the Star: "This show come hot on the heels of Skate Nation which was a massive winner for the BBC in children's television ratings. "It is shaping up to be another great show and I'm proud to be part of the judging panel. We've seen some really talented young teams perform some fantastic routines."

The programme airs on BBC 2 every Saturday morning at 9am and is repeated on the CBBC channel the following afternoon.

what's on

MUSIC: Led Zeppelin tribute band Whole Lotta Led touch down at The Playhouse tonight (Thursday) for an evening of rabble-rousing rock 'n' roll mayhem. The show starts at 8pm and tickets cost $14 ($12 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

COMEDY: Three top stand-ups take to The Playhouse stage tomorrow (Friday) as the Comedy Club makes a welcome return to the theatre. Featuring adrenaline-charged quickfire Scots comic Paul Pirie, the Tommy Cooper-esque comedy magic of Mandy Muden and brilliant social satirist Wayne Deakin, the evening is sure to be a hoot. The show begins at 8pm and tickets cost $11 from (01279) 431945.

MAGIC: Award-winning international illusionist Doctor Bondini presents a magical afternoon of family entertainment at The Playhouse on Saturday. The show starts at 2.30pm and tickets cost $6 from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC: Voted best Big Band in the land for the 12th year running, The Syd Lawrence Orchestra continues to go from strength to strength, returning to The Playhouse on Sunday evening with dazzling new show The Best Of The Big Bands. still showing TOY STORY 2 IN 3D Tom Hanks and Tim Allen go to infinity and beyond as Woody and Buzz, whose love-hate relationship provides Toy Story 2 with its most humorous moments. Screening in 3D in anticipation of the release of Toy Story 3 in July.

UP IN THE AIR George Clooney plays a loveless man who earns his living by flying around America and making total strangers redundant in Jason Reitman's comedy drama. Having no time for family or emotional ties, he finally meets his match in fellow jetsetter Alex (Vera Farmiga).

BOOK OF ELI In a lawless and perilous wasteland that once was America, Eli (Denzel Washington) holds the secret to civilisation's rebirth. It's a secret he guards with pride, dispatching anyone who dares jeopardise his mission to deliver the precious information to those who can carry out his wish.

IT'S COMPLICATED Meryl Streep stars as a divorcee who embarks on a passionate affair with her ex-husband (Alec Baldwin) in writer-director Nancy Meyers's romantic comedy. The sparkling on-screen chemistry between the characters, including a star turn from Steve Martin as a lovelorn architect, adds polish to the familiar material.

AVATAR (3D) Winner of two Golden Globes, James Cameron's special effects-laden blockbuster pushes the boundaries of big-screen technology. When warmonger Colonel Miles Quaritch (Stephen Lang) decides to attack an alien race, his methods change the face of warfare and the fate of a planet.

SHERLOCK HOLMES Guy Ritchie's reinvention of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's legendary sleuth stars Robert Downey Jr and Jude Law as Sherlock Holmes and his sidekick Dr John Watson on the trail of a killer who comes back from the dead.

ST TRINIANS 2: THE LEGEND OF FRITTON'S GOLD The naughty minxes from St Trinian's are back to their old tricks involving a preposterous treasure hunt around London in search of stolen 16th-century booty.

ALVIN AND THE CHIPMUNKS: THE SQUEAKQUEL The diminutive trio meet their match in three feisty females who trill with attitude through Beyoncé's Single Ladies (Put A Ring On It), Hot N Cold by Katy Perry, So What by Pink and Corinne Bailey Rae's Put Your Records On.

kids' club

FANTASTIC MR FOX Director Wes Anderson brings his offbeat and distinctly adult sensibilities to bear on Roald Dahl's classic children's story, with lead voices from George Clooney and Meryl Streep. The stop-motion animation is visually impressive but it's a film you admire and marvel at rather than unreservedly love.

UP (2D) Airborne adventure about a cranky old man who ties thousands of balloons to his home to fulfill his lifelong dream of seeing the wilds of South America and an excitable young boy who accompanies him as a stowaway. The first 10 minutes are some of the finest Pixar have ever produced.

CORALINE CGI adventure in which a young girl finds another world that is a strangely idealized version of her frustrating home but with sinister secrets.

EDGE OF DARKNESS certificate 15 1h56m

BASED on the award-winning 1985 BBC mini-series of the same name, Edge Of Darkness is a gripping tale of one father's crusade for justice set in the murky world of corporate and government cover-ups. Martin Campbell, director of the James Bond movie Casino Royale, brings life to a screenplay by William Monahan and Andrew Bovell which centres on single father and homicide detective Thomas Craven (Mel Gibson), a veteran of the Boston Police.

Craven is distraught when his 24-year-old daughter Emma (Bojana Novakovic) is killed on the steps of the family home.

At first he fears he was the intended target but his guilt quickly turns to incredulity as he uncovers his daughter's secret life and her prolific work as an activist.

Clashing with shadowy CIA operative Darius Jedburgh (Ray Winstone) who is brought in to clean up the evidence, Craven searches for the identities of the men responsible for Emma's death. But his solitary search for answers exposes corruption and collusion extending to the uppermost echelons of power and transforms into an odyssey of emotional discovery and redemption.

Robot boy with superhero powers

ASTRO BOY certificate PG 1h34m

A YOUNG robot boy with incredible powers battles monstrous foes in futuristic Metro City in this CGI movie.

Created by the brilliant scientist Dr Tenma (voiced by Nicolas Cage), Astro Boy (Freddie Highmore) has super strength, X-ray vision, unbelievable speed and the ability to fly.

Embarking on a journey in search of acceptance, Astro Boy encounters many other colourful characters along the way and begins to learn the joys and pains of being human. But when he discovers that his friends and family are in danger, he marshals his awesome super powers and returns to Metro City in a valiant effort to save everything he cares about and to learn what it really means to be a hero.

Astro Boy is based on the Japanese manga comic by revered artist Osamu Tezuka.

The hugely popular character made his first appearance way back in 1951 and since then has appeared in numerous comic strips and TV cartoon shows.

Insight into hybrid driving

Honda Insight ES-T is a tempting, five-seat family-friendly format with a decent boot combined with very impressive specification to offer a cost-effective package with running costs taken into account.

If it is possible to make it to the end of a Honda Insight road test without mentioning the Toyota Prius, you are not about to find out. Frankly, life for any hybrid is going to be hard in the all-encompassing marketing and 'money-can't-buy-that-kind-of-publicity-celebrity-endorsement' shadow of Toyota's eco-friendly model. It is, quite literally, a halo product.

However, it is not cheap. In fact, a base level Prius will set you back £200 more than a top of the line Insight. That's no accident. With the more affordable Insight, Honda aims to bring hybrid motoring to wider audience.

Naturally, there are sacrifices. The hybrid power-train will qualify for exemption from the London congestion charge, but at 105g/km CO2 emissions it loses out to the Prius in terms of taxation (band B at £15 per year) and bragging rights (the Prius boasts 89g/km CO2 emissions).

But using an electric motor with 58lb/ft of torque powered by batteries automatically charged under braking and coasting, the Insight is able to deliver a little more get-up-and-go than if it used its 1.3-litre petrol engine alone, alongside potentially impressive fuel consumption for a petrol-engined vehicle in the C-segment.

A valve train that shuts down when not in use to conserve energy and a trip computer designed to help develop frugal driving techniques play a part, but the Insight remains a car that has to be consciously driven economically in order to reap the rewards. It's endowed with all the qualities of a hyper-miler, but it's less of a natural than its ubiquitous rival.

That said, some might consider the comparison to the Prius a fatuous one. At £2,000 to £3,000 more in comparative specification, drivers might expect the Prius to be a more polished product.

A more sensible comparison would be against similarly-priced and sized family hatchbacks such as the Ford Focus Econetic, Vauxhall Astra EcoFlex or even Volvo S40 DRIVE (albeit a saloon model).

In this environment, the Insight ES-T is a more tempting proposition. The five-seat, family-friendly format with a decent boot combines with very impressive specification to offer a cost-effective package with running costs taken into account.

External additions such as the colour co-ordinated body, alloys wheels and tinted glass give the Insight a contemporary appeal.

A reversing camera is handy too – given the poor visibility out of the rear – while heated seats, automatic wipers and lights, climate control, cruise control, full electric windows, voice recognition sat-nav, USB input and a chunky leather steering wheel with integrated controls mean there's a premium level of equipment in the ES-T model. That level of luxury is not always replicated in terms build quality, however. The interior plastics feel lightweight in places and interior rattles over pot holes are not uncommon.

Yet despite a few shortfalls, the Insight's cabin remains a pretty pleasant experience, particularly for the driver thanks to the hi-tech dashboard. The smartly designed and highly ergonomic controls are located around the driver in a cockpit style and the extremely clear digital and analogue dials and displays are a real triumph.

Passengers also fair well. The rear bench is a little cramped compared to some mainstay C-segment rivals, but access is good thanks to a long wheel base that allows for well-sized doors. With a large glass-house the cabin feels airy, too.

On the open road, the Insight proves surprisingly nimble. An assured suspension set-up and balanced feel mean making progress is no chore.

A CVT gearbox results in engine whine in the cabin under acceleration, but wheel mounted paddles are a neat touch and the responsive steering is one of the highlights.

Individual circumstances will dictate whether a hybrid proves a smarter purchase than a high-efficiency diesel model, but the Honda Insight's affordability means a greater number of drivers now have the option.

With such strong equipment levels, the ES-T model makes an attractive alternative.

Hillarys Blinds advisor business opportunity £40,000 OTE uncapped

If you're looking to run your own business but would like the support of a national company, then becoming an in-home advisor for Hillarys could be for you. We're the UK's No1 for made-to-measure blinds, shutters and awnings and our self employed advisors sell our products direct to customers at home.

Our advisors:

- Sell, measure and fit our products
- Are self employed and manage their working hours
- Have all their leads supplied - there's no cold calling
- Pay a small investment for equipment and tools

Ideally you'll have some sales experience and be confident with D.I.Y, however full training will be provided by our award winning team.

If you think you have what it takes, then visit

Gratnells, a leading manufacturer of tray storage systems, is expanding its Customer Sales and Support department. Right now we're looking for two key individuals to join us at our Harlow head office:

Customer Sales Development Administrator
With an emphasis on increasing sales, you'll be responsible for delivering excellent service to our customers. Your daily tasks will include customer management, administration, order processing and dealing with customer support/queries. You'll also be involved in a degree of sales and business development such as preparing quotations or developing in-bound sales enquiries and supporting sales and marketing campaigns.

We're looking for a reliable and trustworthy individual with previous sales and service management experience. You'll possess good communication and interpersonal skills, be customer-focused, with strong administrative abilities. You'll need to be highly numerate and the ability to work under pressure in a busy environment is a must. An all-round knowledge of MS Word and Excel is essential and experience in database management would be useful. Personality and experience is more important than qualifications, but if you have an NVQ/SVQ in Customer Service at Level 3 or 4, that would be a distinct advantage.

Customer Support Administrator
With an emphasis on customer services, your duties will encompass a whole range of customer-related activities including handling telephone calls and live chat web contact, dealing with enquiries, filing and general administration duties.

You'll be a self-motivated, confident and a natural 'people person' looking to develop your career. Excellent communication, interpersonal and numeracy skills, together with a good working knowledge of MS Word and Excel are essential. You will have the ability to remain calm under pressure and possess a keen eye for detail. An NVQ/SVQ in Customer Service at Level 2 would be an advantage.

If you'd like to work for a friendly, family business and a global brand, send your CV with expected salary, together with a hand-written covering, letter to:

An Adam Smith corner from the right was played short to Dale Cockrill and he cut in to the box and shot across goal and into the far corner.

The temperatures dropped in the second half and any hope Harlow had of finding a way back into the match was wiped out on 74 minutes.

A short corner taken by home skipper Gary Holt found Smith and he netted a carbon copy of the second goal.

He cut into the box and shot across goal from 12 yards into the far corner. Reece Dobson was booked for a foul midway through the second half.

Dobson went close to a consolation goal late on. He forced home keeper Andy Reynolds to scramble a shot away with his feet for a corner shortly before the end.

Sky's no limit for Amelia

AMELIA Barrett is set to appear in front of the Sky TV cameras for Essex at the UK Inter Counties Championships. The Harlow-based Amelia found out she had been selected for the county team this week for the event in Birmingham on March 13.

In an indoor meeting at Sutton in Surrey, 22-year-old Kirsty McIntosh, also from Harlow, pole vaulted 3.43m – a personal best indoor distance – to win her event.

At Hylands Park, seven Harlow students represented the West Essex district in a bid to qualify for the All England Schools Championships and Essex Schools in the Southern Inter Counties in a fortnight.

In the junior girls race (U-15, 3.4km), West Essex Schools champion Amelia Barrett was 11th (13 mins 56 secs).

Amelia was just four seconds shy of claiming an automatic place in the English Schools Champs, but is a reserve.

Isobel Moss (14), a Passmore School pupil, was 21st in 14 mins 40 secs.

Passmore School-mate Lauren Freeman (16) was 38th in the inter girls (U-17) race over 4.5km in 22 mins.

Perry Rowan (13), a Burnt Mill School student, finished in 20:02 for 59th.

In the Inter Boys race over 5.6km, Sam Bengie (Stewards) was first for West Essex and 39th overall (21:53).

Ryan Dunne (14), from Mark Hall School, was 3rd in 22:01 and Daniel Aves (16), from Passmore, was 57th in 24 :06.

Samuel fears take over talk could unsettle players

HAWKS boss Marvin Samuel fears the take over talk at the club could be unsettling for players as they bid to beat the drop.

A consortium led by Harlow Town's FC's former director of football Tommy Cunningham is set to tie up a deal for the Barrows Farm club over the next couple of days.

Samuel, who only took over seven weeks ago, has helped his side pick up four points from five league games, but knows with the team marooned 14 points adrift at the bottom of the Ryman division one north table, his job is also on the line.

"If I was a player and heard somebody was taking over the club, I would find it rather unsettling," he said.

"I do not worry about my position. If I am not needed, I will not be needed. That is football, the fans understand what I am trying to do. It's not me, it is about the football club.

Meanwhile, Samuel revealed that winger Tas Hussain is having a trial with Lee Clark's League One side Huddersfield Town side this week.

The Hawks boss hopes to snap up full-back Rickelle Christian from Boreham Wood. The player left Harlow in December.

Hawks host Maldon Town in the league this Saturday and visit Enfield Town on Tuesday.

Seventh heaven for Harlow

Harlow 7, Havering III 1
East Men's Hockey League, division four south east

IT needed a sharp second-half performance from Harlow against basement side Havering III to end a three-match losing run.

The hosts were being held 1-1 at half-time on Saturday against a team who have not managed to accrue a single point this season!

However, six second-half goals guided Harlow to a convincing victory.

The hosts were without influential player Chris Shearman Slack.

He was replaced by youngster Andy Boughtwood, who scored his goal for the first team.

The hosts failed to convert a couple of early chances, then went behind from Havering's first attack.

A Havering forward was stopped illegally in the D and a visiting player converted the penalty flick, sending home keeper Adam Johnson the wrong way.

Harlow equalised midway through the first half when Adam Ottley's pass across goal ricocheted into the net off the goalkeeper.

The hosts looked more dangerous after the break and took the lead when James Smith converted a short corner.

This was extended when Smith won another short corner minutes later and Kyle Plumridge drag flicked the ball low into the corner.

Harlow were in control and Rob Chandler scored after playing a one-two with Smith. Chandler span away from his marker and slotted the ball past the oncoming goalkeeper for a 4-1 lead.

Ottley and Smith both completed their braces, the former from a short corner.

Smith hit a second with a shot between the keeper's legs from a tight angle.

The scoring was completed when Boughtwood continued on a forward run and met a return pass to convert at the back post.

HARLOW: Johnson, Castle, Plumridge, Kirk, Jones, Symonds (c), Kroszka, Smith, Boughtwood (sub: Cox), Ottley, Chandler.

● HARLOW Ladies remain fourth in the Essex premier after returning to winning ways with a 3-2 victory over Wapping.

Georgina Esterhuysen got two goals with top goalscorer Carolyn Rushton adding to her tally.

The winner from Esterhuysen came 10 minutes from time via a short corner routine.

A dramatic off the line clearance by defender Jo Green, who had an excellent match, ensured Harlow took all the points.

HARLOW: Rowley, Shearman-Slack, Trimble, Green, Douglas, Rushton, Tweedle, Ferdinand, Esterhuysen, Amos, Ashford, Figg.

Canons Brook launches major refurb project

Golf

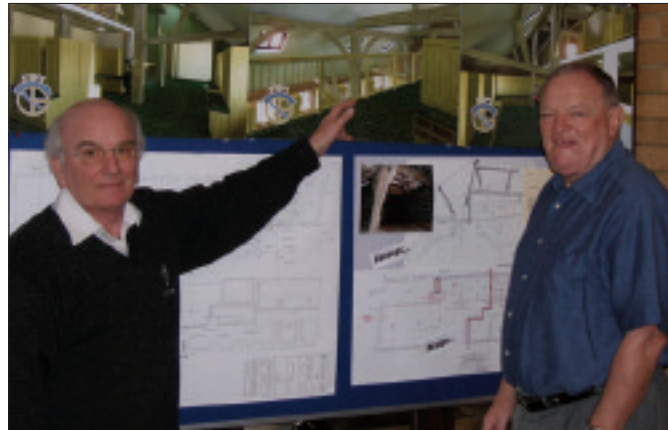

A MAJOR modernisation project of the 17th century barn and changing rooms at Harlow's Canons Brook Golf Club has been launched.

Firstly, the scheme at the Elizabeth Way club will transform the locker and changing rooms.

The club's course was originally designed by golf legend Sir Henry Cotton and built in 1960.

Club chiefs will not reveal exactly how much will be spent on the project, but a spokesman said it would cost a 'substantial five-figure' amount.

The club has funded the extensive project itself. Increased funds have allowed Canons Brook, which has more than 500 members, to commence the work, and phase one should be completed in May. The recent re-roofing of the barn which houses the changing rooms, enabled it to expose the stunning ancient oak structure.

Phase one will see the locker room converted to add new toilets, showers and lockers. Phase two will upgrade the toilets for the function area (barn). Phase three will see an upgrade of the function suite to enable it to be used as a prime wedding and conference venue.

The work is being carried out with the help of Architecture and Design Services, of Parndon Mill.

Club captain Graham Brownsell said: "For the players this is a long over-due upgrade which will benefit all the membership.

"This is another part of the ongoing jigsaw ensuring Canons Brook Golf Club remains an outstanding golf course in the area."

He added: "It's also to ensure our members can enjoy being proud and also a part of the best golf club for miles around and to encourage other golfers who visit The Brook who enjoy our superb course and facilities to return again and again."

Loss ends Hawks slim title hopes

PLAYER coach Shab Niaz has admitted his Harlow Hawks side are out of contention for the Herts County League title after they slumped to a heavy defeat at Enfield Mercs on Friday.

Hawks were missing three of their regular starters through injury or holiday.

This 27-point reverse followed an even bigger loss to Ware Jokers in the Herts County Cup the previous week, and Niaz is planning on big changes for the rest of the season to spark an end to the side's bad form.

Niaz said: "It has not been helped with some of our more experienced players missing. None of the remaining games are going to be easy as we play all the top teams, starting with trying to find a way past Ware Jokers at home this Friday.

Enfield Mercs 106, Harlow Hawks 79
Herts County Basketball League, div one

"We are out of the running for the league, but still have the League Cup to play for at the end of the season and also the knockout rounds of the National Founders Cup.

"This situation provides an excellent opportunity of rotating the squad a lot more for the remainder of the season and give valuable extended playing time to other members of the team."

Hawks found themselves 12-5 down early on after Mercs exploited almost every opportunity.

Another 8-4 run by Mercs led to Hawks calling a time-out and the visitors responded brilliantly with a 14-6 run.

Hawks trailed Mercs 26-23 going into the second quarter.

The visitors then played badly as Mercs scored at will to take a double-digit lead.

However, Harlow settled and got their fast-break game going.

Rimas Norkeliunas was the Hawks main scorer as the Mercs' lead was reduced to seven points.

The match then turned decisively away from the Hawks as the hosts scored 16 points in three minutes to lead 56-36 at half-time.

Hawks did well in the third quarter until Mercs put the game to bed with a 7-0 run to go 79-57 up into the final break.

The visitors remained competitive until a late 20-6 run by Mercs killed any faint hopes of a Hawks comeback.

HARLOW HAWKS: S. Niaz (25 pts), Norkeliunas (17), Freeman (15), Jones (8), Hinds (5), Allan (4), Burgess (3), Z. Niaz (2) Spashett.

Defeat in decider

ANDY Davis lost the deciding rubber 3-1 when Harlow Squash Club's first team went down 3-2 at Panshanger in division four of the Herts Squash League.

Earlier, Ian Gould and Dave Gear respectively won their matches 3-1 and 3-0. However, Harlow's Mike Symmons and Dan Collison both lost 3-2.

Harlow second team were thrashed 5-0 at Nuffield Heath (St Albans) in division five. These results followed a 3-2 home win for Harlow firsts over Harpenden and a 4-1 home loss for Harlow seconds against Panshanger the previous week.

Alemite reach Essex Junior Cup last eight

ALEMITE Athletic have booked a spot in the last eight of the Essex Junior Cup.

Penguins ready for move to new home

Swimming

HARLOW Penguins Swimming Club is gearing up for a tumultuous year as it moves into its new home in Velizy Avenue. The Penguins have led a nomadic existence since its previous home in First Avenue was closed down for health and safety reasons in 2008.

But the club is expected to move into the newly-built sports centre on the old Harlow College grounds in February.

Work had been expected to be completed last September, but had met delays.

Meanwhile, the Penguins have held meetings at Hoddesdon, Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth and Burnt Mill School in Harlow.

The club has agreed session times with chiefs at the new sports centre.

A Penguins spokeswoman said: "Negotiations with the new sports centre have led to a confirmed timetable for the club when the new pool opens.

"Penguins will have more pool time than they can currently provide and will be able to reintroduce morning swimming, masters and fitness lanes and Friday club night."

The club's membership has dwindled away over the last couple of years but with the move to the new headquarters just weeks away, it is appealing for new recruits to come forward or for former members to return to represent the Penguins once again.

Emily Poolman (10) scooped the Harlow Penguins Swimmers of the Year title.

The youngster has made tremendous improvement in her swimming over the last 12 months.

Victoria Tidmas was rewarded for her sterling work as a support teacher in December with the swimmer of the month prize.

Filip Kusnir (9) made the club proud by achieving the 2010 Essex county qualifying time.

She swam the 200m breaststroke in 4 minutes 9.33 seconds. This time made her the eighth fastest in Essex for 9-year-olds.

Penguins' young swimmers were rewarded with British age group category certificates.

Bronze medal haul at open meet for super Ellis

SEVEN Harlow Penguins swimmers swam at the Bishop's Stortford 200m open meeting on Saturday – and they all came away with medals and excellent personal best times.

Ellis Singleton (14) started the team off with a gutsy performance in the 200m butterfly and was rewarded with a bronze medal.

He added two more bronze medals in the 200m backstroke and 200m freestyle.

Georgia Andrew (13) and Jasmine Hind (12) knocked seconds off their times in the 200m individual medley (IM).

Jasmine gained a silver medal in her age group and went on to take two fourth places in the 200m freestyle and 200m backstroke, all in personal best (PB) times.

Georgia came second in the 200m IM, third in the 200m freestyle, second in the 200m backstroke and third in the 200m breaststroke.

Emily Poolman (10) competed in a tough older age group and was 6th in the 200m breaststroke with a PB of 4.19.75.

Bradley Veitch (10) competed in two events and managed an impressive fourth place in the 200m breaststroke.

Kyle Panton (14) showed his strength lies in distance events and he came away with two silver medals in the 200m IM and 200m breaststroke and 4th in the 200m breaststroke.

Luke Guerrati (13) was 5th in the 200m breaststroke (3:20.35, PB) and smashed his PB in the 200m IM (2:55.02).

Three and easy for super Rams

THE Rams will approach their home clash against lowly Norwich in two days in good heart.

Although the Norfolk side have improved lately, Harlow go into Saturday's clash on the back of three consecutive wins which has lifted them to an impressive seventh spot.

The side's third victory this year came five days ago at Chelmsford.

Although Harlow conceded too many penalties, they scored two well-taken tries and this, combined with accurate kicking by fly-half Michael Dobson, gave the Rams the spoils.

Chelmsford started well and went ahead when a kick to the corner by fly-half Tom Morrish set up a try for winger Ashley Wright.

The hosts remained in control for most of the first quarter and Morrish put them 8-0 ahead through a 23rd-minute penalty before the visitors reduced the deficit on 26 minutes.

A four-man move which started on the halfway line through Paul Eynon – returning from a hamstring injury – ended with Shaun Roberts offloading in the tackle for winger Dan Hockley to run in a try near the corner.

Dobson kicked a difficult conversion.

On the stroke of half-time, a break by Eynon preceded Hockley kicking ahead and beating a Norfolk player to the ball to touch down.

Dobson kicked the conversion and Harlow led 14-8.

A minute after the break, Harlow pressure resulted in a Chelmsford infringement and Dobson made it 17-8 with his second penalty of the afternoon.

The Rams went down to 14 on 65 minutes after centre James McFerran was sin-binned for a late tackle.

From the ensuing penalty, Chelmsford kicked deep into the visitors' 22 for a line-out.

From this, Chelmsford's heavy pack drove towards the Rams' try line before winger Michael Mullins scored an unconverted try (17-13).

Chelmsford were awarded a penalty in front of the posts on 70 minutes but Morrish opted to take the three points rather than push for a try.

This cut the deficit to a single point.

With a few minutes left, Harlow's pressure forced Chelmsford to concede a penalty which Dobson kicked to ensure the hosts required a try.

They were unable to do this in the closing stages and Harlow are now just two wins away from third-placed Colchester, who they beat in their last home game.

Club records fall in Folksworth 15

Running

SEVERAL Harlow Running Club members took part in 15-mile races at the weekend in preparation for running the Virgin London Marathon.

At the Folksworth 15, the first Harlow woman to finish was Katie Herrington in a superb 1:49.50. This was a Harlow Running Club senior women's record for the distance by more than eight minutes.

Not far behind was Dionne Jones who finished in a fantastic 1:53.38 to create a new HRC Vet 40 record by more than 20 minutes.

First Harlow runner to finish overall was David Ayling in an excellent time of 1 hour, 41 minutes and 25 seconds.

This earned him a trophy as the quickest runner in the under 25 age group.

Other HRC times were: John Bull 1:52.45; Claire Williams 2:17.32; Joanne Chung 2:20.28; Linda Selby 2:22.38.

Competing in their first ever 15-mile race were Wendy Spring (2:51), Alison Bull (2:53.14), Susan Dewan (3:00.50) and Linda Hawkins (3:05.24) at Benfleet.

Servo close gap at top of league

Darts

SERVO Link's 8-0 win at Colt Hatch moved them within two points of leaders White Admiral in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

Admiral won 7-1 at Stow Snooker with Ian Mappley shooting out on 102.

Damian Green's fourth 180 of the season helped Moot House Arrows to a 7-1 win at a woeful Tye Green Whites.

Damian joins Roy Leftwich (Servo Link) at the top of the 180s table. Both players have four maximums.

Young Pretenders are now five points behind Servo after their 7-1 win against Golden Swift.

Harlow Hawks grabbed their second win of the season with a 6-2 victory at The Crusader.

Moot House drew 4-4 with Tye Green Foxes and Staple Tye Colts beat UG Glass 5-3.

TOP FORM: Thirteen-year-old Harry Green is proving a whizz kid on the green baize and has potted two snooker titles already this year (HSP0621412)

Teenage snooker star's Harry pot-ter

Snooker

YOUNG Harlow snooker ace Harry Green is going from strength to strength.

The Mark Hall School student, who has just turned 13, won two separate titles while competing against adults in a competition at Chelmsford Snooker Club.

He was the top player out of 32 in the Club Handicap competition. This came after he finished third overall in the 26-week tournament.

Harry's handicap is 17 and eight of the 32 players have a lower handicap (most of the top players are a -20 handicap).

The youngster, from Abbeydale Close, played superbly to reach the final where he defeated Andy King by two frames to one.

King, the brother of snooker professional Mark King, has a handicap of 10 which entitled Harry to a seven-point start.

Harry took the first frame 64-57 but started to lose concentration in the second.

The final started at 11pm and Harry was shattered after playing the first four rounds on the same night.

Harry was trailing 51-46 in the final frame with four balls left and he cleared up with a break of 22 to win 68-51 at 12.30am!

Richard Green, Harry's father, said: "I was proud of the way he played and it proved his dedication to practise is paying off."

Harry recently won a similar contest when he beat Mike Blower (handicap 22) 2-0 in the final.

Leaders dispatch Town

THE form book was followed as basement side Harlow Town were comfortably beaten at table-topping Lowestoft Town.

Tuesday night's game was no classic and the runaway division one north leaders ran out easy victors with three goals.

It was Harlow's first game this year after a month during which postponements have hit them hard.

The visitors stuck to their task but paid for defensive errors at set-pieces and lacked any penetration up front to trouble the Trawlermen.

Hawks boss Marvin Samuel gave himself a first start since taking over as manager in

Lowestoft Tn 3, Harlow 0
Ryman League, division one north

December. He came in at right-back.

Samuel also gave a debut to new signing, left-back Adonis Oholi, while Jose Espinoza played up front with Julian Edwards in the absence of Hawks skipper Wayne Grant (work commitments).

Lowestoft, who were missing leading scorer Matt Nolan (hamstring injury), enjoyed the majority of possession.

They went ahead on 15 minutes when Joe Francis' 20-yard free-kick from the left flew in at the near post.

The hosts' lead was doubled just before half-time.

Cunning plan for Hawks

Ex-director of football steps in to save club

A GROUP of businessmen led by former Hawks director of football Tommy Cunningham have agreed a deal to rescue cash-crippled Harlow Town FC.

The exciting take over news was revealed by the club's majority shareholder and former chairman and chief executive officer Jeff Bothwell at a public meeting on Friday at The Link.

The investors have agreed to take on the club's debts, which according to the CVA (Company Voluntary Agreement) stand at £189,000.

Former Queens Park Rangers and Leyton Orient defender Cunningham, now a football agent, was originally appointed director of football at the club's old Sportcentre ground in July 2003.

He left in the spring of 2008 to pursue other business ventures, but has always held the club close to his heart.

Cunningham and two business partners will take over the helm at Barrows Farm.

Mr Bothwell said he had given the investors 90 per cent of his shares for FREE in order to save the club.

They have also reached an agreement with the shares of current chief executive and chairman, Carol Bothwell, he claimed. She is the estranged partner of Jeff.

At the meeting, Harlow Town's former managing director Gary Lewis revealed the huge increase in debt caused by the club's move from the Sportcentre to Barrows Farm (see page four for full report).

This enabled Harlow Council to sell the old Sportcentre which is now home to hundreds of properties that were built as part of the Gateway Project.

Mr Bothwell said the investors were desperate to come on board as soon as possible in order to stop the club dropping down from Ryman division one north into the Essex Senior League.

The team is currently marooned 14 points adrift at the bottom of the table.

Mr Bothwell said he was bound by a confidentiality agreement when he spoke on Friday and could not reveal exactly who was taking over. But he said the investors hoped to have an agreement in place and be in charge by this Saturday's home league game against Maldon Town.

"I will give all my shares apart from 10 per cent. They will own 90 per cent of the football club," explained Mr Bothwell.

"They believe they can keep us in the Ryman League. I believe that's a tall order. They will put money in. They will take on all the debt.

"One is a football agent and was a footballer. They have access to quite a lot of talent. They are good football people with access to quality players. It's not about people just wanting to make a few quid.

"I believe it's a good move for the club. I'm very, very confident this will go ahead. But I am bound by confidentiality at the moment. They will put a huge amount of money into the club. I would not have given away my shares if I did not think it was the right move for the club."

The new investors hope to bring in Ryman premier division standard players and take the club into this league in 2011.

The deal raises question marks over the future of current boss Marvin Samuel, but Mr Bothwell said that would be a decision taken by the new owners.
